

Site Manager

Posted by Advanced Diesel Engineering 03/02/2021

📍 CA20, Seascale, Cumbria

SITE MANAGER – NORTH WEST ENGLAND LOCATION

ADE Ltd currently have a fantastic opportunity for a Site Manager to join our Project Management team.

Initially relocating to our offices in South Yorkshire (approximately two months), where the candidate will gain a good understanding of the project as a whole and assist with the site documentation. The role will then be based on site in the North West commencing May 2021. The role will terminate on project completion which is anticipated to be June 2023 however, this is likely to be extended.

Job Responsibilities

- Coordination of all site activities;
- Management of deadlines and targets ensuring achievement;
- Management of Risk Assessments through the approval process and ensuring compliance to them;
- Ensure all sub-contractor personnel are fully security vetted and inducted to the site and work in compliance with the client processes and procedures;
- Coordination of sub-contractor workloads and supervising activity and progress;
- Ensure Health, Safety, Quality and Environmental standards are being met on site at all times;
- Manage health and safety requirements;
- Hold permits to work for tasks that require them for sub-contractors
- Report all near misses and accidents through the appropriate channels;
- Attend client planning meetings where required, and submit sub-contractors schedules and manage works to the submitted schedule;
- Interface with the client and the internal Project manager.

Person Specification

- Minimum 5 years relevant experience within a heavy technical engineering or power generation/distribution role;
- Strong electrical/mechanical construction background with a good working knowledge of civil works processes;
- Knowledge and experience of working within the construction industry;
- Experience with general site surveying and setting out;
- Experience installing pre-constructed modular buildings (Desirable);
- Experience managing/supervising of fuel delivery system contractors (Desirable);
- Experience supervising the coupling together of Controls systems (Desirable);
- Assisting/managing the commissioning of MEP systems;
- Valid Site CSCS/SMSTS or equivalent;
- Effective leadership, interpersonal and communication skills;
- Competent in the use of Excel, Word, Microsoft Project;
- Effective leadership, interpersonal and communication skills;
- Flexible in approach to solving issues and delivering projects;
- Well organised with good time management skills;
- Full UK Driving licence;
- Health & Safety IOSH for Supervisors (Desirable);
- First Aid at work qualified (Desirable).

The successful candidate will require an enhanced DBS and will undergo regular drug and alcohol screening.

Competitive salary dependant on experience.

ADE Ltd do not discriminate on the grounds of age, gender, race, colour, religion, disability or sexual orientation, and we welcome applications from all sections of the community.

Thank you but no agencies